Introduction of Oncology conference

The International Conference on Oncology and Cancer Research is an event that brings together researchers, healthcare professionals, and experts from the field of oncology and cancer research to discuss the latest developments and advancements in the field. The conference provides a platform for sharing new ideas, scientific knowledge, and research findings among the participants. The conference usually includes keynote speeches, plenary sessions, oral presentations, poster sessions, and workshops. The conference topics may include, but are not limited to, the following areas of cancer research: Basic cancer research, Clinical trials and studies, Cancer prevention and early detection, Cancer diagnosis and treatment, Cancer therapies and new treatments, Cancer epidemiology and statistics, Cancer informatics and technology, Cancer rehabilitation and palliative care, Cancer policy and advocacy. The International Conference on Oncology and Cancer Research is an opportunity for professionals from various backgrounds to come together and collaborate on ways to improve the diagnosis, treatment, and overall management of cancer.
